To Whom It May Concern,

This is to confirm that we employed Steve Rankine's voiceover services for one of our clients' e-learning initiative in September, 2006.

We were very satisfied with Steve's voiceover service and would not hesitate to recommend him to anyone interested in employing him for this voiceover work. He was a pleasure to work with and his sense of humor significantly contributed to our enjoyment of getting the job done, on time and on budget.

Moreover, since Steve has his own sound booth at home, we were able to make subsequent modifications to our project without having to incur the high costs of additional professional studio time. Sound files were expediently sent via Internet technology and thus allowed us, yet again, to meet the demands of the customer and the deadline within reasonable costs.

Best Regards,
